A word from the Praeses

Buongiorno!

Here we are again with another issue of the Wonderful T-Magazine, and this time I'd love to tell you about my favourite event of the year: De 24urenloop!

De 24urenloop is a massive interfaculty relay race in which student associations compete against each other to run as many laps as possible around the same track at Sportkot. When I say 24 hours, I really mean 24 hours. The baton never stops: not at midnight, not at 4 a.m. when it's freezing and pitch dark, and not when the sun comes back up and everyone is running on pure willpower.

We really need your help this year! Our sworn enemy for the past few years, the Hoogmedisch Verbond (yes, the medicine students), is ready to defend their fifth place, and we're ready to take it from them! Every year they show up with an army of runners, and every year we tell ourselves that next time will be different. Well, this is next time.

We're going for speed this year. There's a minimum lap time, so we're looking for runners who can really push the pace. Think you've got what it takes? Come train with us at the athletics track at Sportkot! And if running isn't your thing, come cheer! A loud crowd makes a huge difference, especially during those long night shifts when motivation starts to drop.

Now on to something completely different, or maybe not that different, since it's also about friendship, tradition and a healthy dose of chaos: the Industria doop!

I know what some of you might be thinking. Student hazings haven't always had the best reputation, mostly because not everyone knows the rules of the doopcharter or the difference between a club doop and a kring doop. So let me be clear: the Industria doop has been seen as an example in Leuven for years. We focus on having fun and on the friendships that come with it, and it's one of the most traditional parts of student life that you really don't want to miss.

Still have doubts or questions? Perfect, because that's exactly why we're organising a no-strings-attached info session on 19 October from 19:30 to 20:30. Come by, ask whatever you want, and decide for yourself afterwards. You can sign up through the activities page on our website.

Cheer and run for Engineering Technology and Industria!

Frituursnack of the week

The bamischijf: noodles gone rogue

What do you get when you take a traditional Indonesian noodle dish, wrap it in breadcrumbs, and throw it into a deep fryer? The bamischijf of course. A popular Dutch snack that's a familiar sight behind the glass counter of your local frituur. This frituursnack is proof that noodles don't always belong in a bowl. Sometimes, they belong in a crispy golden crust, served in a paper tray with a fat dollop of sauce. The bami's origin story begins after Indonesia's independence from the Dutch in the 1940s, when they introduced the Indonesian kitchen in The Netherlands. With that the first version of this crispy snack was born: the bamiballs. But these round balls, filled with bami goreng, an Indonesian dish of stir-fried noodles, were difficult to stack during their industrial production. Thus we had to say goodbye to our beloved balls and say hello to their successor, the flat disc.

But the bamischijf doesn't come without its dangers. Its golden exterior might look innocent enough, but one overconfident bite is all it takes for the scolding hot inside to leave you with a burnt tongue. So beware and know that patience is key, even if the tempting smell makes waiting almost impossible.

In the end, the bamischijf is and always will be a beautiful creation and great example of culinary creativity: a little bit of Indonesian inspiration, mixed with a generous helping of Dutch snack culture, and a whole lot of Belgian frituur love. It may be an unusual combination, but one bite of that crunchy coating and steaming noodle filling is enough to convince everyone it deserves to stay on the menu. Just give it a minute to cool down first. Seriously.

Sport

As team sport we try to organize different atheletic activities that are fun for everyone, from beginners who want to try new things, to die-hard athletes. In the beginning of the year we put a lot of time and effort into making the 5th place at the 24 hour run ours! That's not all though, after the 24 hour run, there will be plenty of other athletic activities throughout the year, like our social runs, indoor football and much more!

Athletic or interested in trying out new sports? Then make sure to check our socials and our website to always stay aware of the activities we have planned!

Good Eats

Foodplace of the week: Stuffed

For all our students who don't make the effort in the morning to make their sandwiches for later in the day or students who just don't like plain Nutella on their 'bokes', we have something for you! We present you: Broodjesbar Stuffed (a personal favorite of someone from the Communication team) on Vital Decosterstraat 16. This sandwich shop is not the closest to Group T but definitely worth walking a bit further for, they have a wide variety of sandwiches that range from your classic ‘smos kaas hesp’ (AKA a club) to a sandwich with 4 different types of meat. Really a strong contender for best sandwich shop in Leuven! Besides sandwiches they also offer fresh soup, salads and smoothies, there’s something for everyone at Stuffed.
